COLLEGE
STAUNTON, VIRGINIA

Glitter and glamour were the order of the evening as junior women dressed to the nines for the formal dinner and dance on Junior Dad's Day in November. With the theme, "Dads are a girl's best friend," students invited their parents for a weekend of festivities. The highlight of the evening was the presentation of class rings to students by their dads. In photo above, Mr. T.C. Anderson of Richmond presents daughter Susan with her ring.

MBC Ranked Top Women's College In Region

by Ann Clayton Brandt
Director of Communications

Mary Baldwin College was ranked the top women's college among regional liberal arts colleges in the South and border states in a nationwide survey of 662 college presidents asked to name the nation's highest-quality undergraduate schools. Mary Baldwin ranked third overall after coeducational Millsaps College of Mississippi and Wofford College of South Carolina.

Results of the survey by U.S. News and World Report were released in the November 28 issue.

"Being ranked the top women's college in the region is a reward for our efforts in recent years. Although this isn't our first national recognition, The National Center for Higher Education Management Systems having chosen us in 1982 as the model turn-around college, the U.S. News ranking is probably the most exciting because it's such a popular and well-respected magazine. Also, it reflects recognition by our peers—other college presidents," said MBC President Virginia L. Lester.

In the survey, 1,308 four-year college presidents were asked to name the highest-quality undergraduate schools. A total of 662, more than 50 percent, responded. They based their judgments on the quality of academic courses, professors, student bodies and general atmosphere of learning provided.

"In the mid-1970s, Mary Baldwin set itself apart from other women's colleges in the South by choosing to emphasize both career preparation and the liberal arts. Scrutiny of our curriculum shows more than just lip service to careers; our graduates are actually a step ahead, be it in the world of work, graduate school, or in community volunteer agencies," President Lester said.

Washington and Lee was ranked first among comprehensive universities in the East. Other Virginia colleges rated were the University of Richmond, sixth, and James Madison University, seventh, under smaller comprehensive universities in the East.

Founders' Day

Founders' Day was augmented this year by an additiona observance, the dedication of the Deming Fine Arts Center in hono of Bertie Murphy Deming '46.

Students, staff, Stauntonians and other visitors participated i the activities October 8.

Following the convocation address by Wilhelmina Cole Ho laday, President of the National Museum of Women's Art, and th investiture of seniors, the gathering of some 400 people proceede to the Fine Arts Center for dedication ceremonies.

Presiding was Margaret King Stanley '52, Executive Director c the San Antonio Performing Arts Association. Staunton Mayo Dolores Lescure was on hand to cite the contributions the Colleg has made to the community and to announce the City Council' proclamation of Mary Baldwin College Art and Culture Week October 8-14.

In dedicating the building, MBC President Virginia L. Lester saic "You exemplify, Bertie Deming, the best of everything this Colleg has ever been or hopes to become."

The College's fine arts center was dedicated in honor of Berti Deming because of the role she has played as alumna, trustee, an vice-chairperson of the Board. Mrs. Deming and her family were major donors to the building's finance campaign.

Family and friends attending the ceremonies were husban Dr. John Deming; Bishop and Mrs. Christopher Keller of Alexandria La.; Mr. and Mrs. Claiborne Deming of El Dorado, Ark.; Mr. Joh Deming, Jr., and his daughter Lhianna of Boston, Mass.; Mr. an Mrs. Joseph Smith, publisher of Alexandria (La.) Daily Town Talk Mr. and Mrs. Eric Heiner of Charlottesville, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Hunte Pierson of New Orleans, La.; and Mr. and Mrs. Corwith Davis c Charlottesville, Va.

In addition to dedicating the building in Bertie Deming's hono Dr. Lester presented her with an original painting by artist Joh Ruseau, held a special theatre matinee performance for th eming family and other guests, and hosted a reception and dinner the president's home.

Mary Baldwin College has awarded only two honorary doctorte degrees in its 142-year history. Bertie Murphy Deming received ne first of those in 1977. She has also received the College's lgernon Sydney Sullivan Award and the Emily Smith Medallion.

A highlight of Saturday's activities was a concert for Mary Baldin College by the United States Army Chorus. The performance as intended to climax the dedicatory weekend and involved the ollege community and its guests as well as the Staunton comnunity. To Mrs. Deming's surprise and delight, the Chorus dediated one of its closing numbers to her.

In conjunction with Founders' Day and the dedication and aving freshman and senior parents on campus, the College also ffered a program on "Academics in Action." Parents got a chance o see three aspects of their daughter's lives at MBC, including the Career Services office and Grafton Library, a biology lab, and a ole-playing model of a student having her first advising session vith a professor.

The day began a week-long series of special art and cultural vents and speakers highlighted by Mrs. Holladay's address on The Challenge of Rewriting Art History." Mrs. Holladay discussed lans for the National Museum of Women's Art to be opened in the all of 1986 in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Holladay and her husband Wallace have collected some 25 pieces of art by women which will form the nucleus of the nuseum's permanent collection. Works in the collection date from ne sixteenth century to the present.

The National Museum will be the only institution in the world ocusing on the contribution of women in art, said Mrs. Holladay. It vill be "truly national" in scope, representing artists from across the ountry. They plan to establish committees in each state and to eature state exhibits at the Museum.

Other activities during MBC Art and Culture Week included the nnual Carroll Lectures featuring Mary Beth Norton, Professor of istory at Cornell University. She presented two lectures on Vomen in Colonial America. Throughout the week, the MBC heatre Department held performances of "The Beggar's Opera."

The week ended with a gala honoring Fletcher and Margaret ollins for their contribution to the arts in the area of theatre, music, lance, scholarship and historic preservation. Deming Hall's Flether Collins Theatre was formally dedicated to honor MBC's proessor emeritus of theatre.

The U.S. Army Chorus offered a special concert to the Mary Baldwin and Staunton communities as part of the weekend of dedication activities.

All Alumnae Art Show

Mary Baldwin's All Alumnae Art Show was held on campus August 31 through September 9. Fifty alumnae from 19 states, including Hawaii, Texas, and Maine, exhibited in the show. The alumnae artists represented the Classes of 1915 to 1983. A large variety of media was exhibited.

The Alumnae Art Show was the first in a series of on-campus shows to be held this year to celebrate the opening of the Deming Fine Arts Center. The Alumnae Art Show was the first show in the Hunt Gallery located on the first floor of Hunt Dining Hall. The new gallery will give all students the opportunity to live with art on a daily basis. By featuring the work of alumnae, the College is providing students an ongoing example of successful graduates in the field of art.

Alumnae exhibiting watercolor paintings included Kathrena Ravenhorst Adams '70 of Northfield Falls, Vt.; Susan Jones Bell '73 Bland, Va.; Leila Jo Hook '48, Staunton, Va.; Emily Wirsing Kelly '63, Salem, Va.; Jacquelyn Branch McAfee '78, Richmond, Va.; Pat Fisher McHold '63, Annapolis, Md.; Sally Wheat Porter '43 Stanardsville, Va.; Ruth Harrison Quillen '52 Waynesboro, Va.; Sally Bell Schwarz '67, Venice, Fla.; Ruth Peters Sproul '43, Staunton, Va.; Jean Umberger Wertz '64, Roanoke, Va.; Betty Gronemeyer Wise '39, Charleston, W. Va.

Works in oil were submitted by Anne Warren Churchman Brown '45, Washington, D.C.; Mary Olive Hull Calkins '43, Houston, Tex.; Billie Jean Smith Frye '48, Winchester, Va.; Judith Godwin '52, New York, N.Y.; Ashlin Wyatt Smith '54, Charlottesville, Va.; and Kathryn Keller Timmons '74, Charlottesville, Va.

Susan Paul Firestone '68 of Washington, D.C., submitted a painting of acrylic and oil. Other works in acrylic were submitted by Pennie West Covington '50, Atlanta, Ga.; Ann Fitch Lewis '53, Charlotte, N.C.; and Dorothy Crawford Rogers '15, Burlingame, Calif.

Photography was submitted by Pat Forbes '67, Reston, Va.; Katherine Irvin Hughes '64, Bedford, Va.; and Jean E. Lynn '65, Richmond, Va.

A number of fiber works were exhibited in the show by McKenzie Gibson Conyers '82, Fishersville, Va.; Sandra Schenck Dedmon '68, Shelby, N.C.; Ann Trusler Faith '69, Ridgefield, Conn.; Anita Thee Graham '50, Columbia, S.C.; Nancy Knight Lammie '75, Ft. Belvoir, Va.; Lois Morrison '56, Greenville, Va.; Emily Borden Ragsdale '70, Jamestown, N.C.; Martha Butler Matthews '62, Charlotte, N.C.; Jeanette Pressly Street '44, San Antonio, Tex.; Jane Bartlett Trotman '71, Casar, N.C.

Graphic designs by Nancy Rowe Hull '64, Atlanta, Ga. and Freddie Strickland Rodgers '77, Columbia, S.C., were also shown.

A stoneware bowl was exhibited by Jill Morton Toyofuku '64, Honolulu, Hawaii.

Works in pastels were submitted by Shay Herring '74, Staunton, Va., and Lee Edwards Watkins '47, Morganton, N.C.

Three pencil drawings were submitted by Pauline Dove '65, Charlotte, N.C.; Roberta Vance Homer '37, North Falmouth, Mass.; and Catherine Weir '81, Staunton, Va.

A mat construction collage was exhibited by Kathy Redford O'Mara '78 of Pensacola, Fla. Dorothy Lewis '76 of Portland, Maine submitted a silk screen wall hanging.

Works in wood were exhibited by Margaret Adair Atmar '56, Houston, Tex.; and Phebe Palmer Bishop '61, Essex Fells, N.J.

Janet Mitchell Harper '54, Malvern, Pa., submitted a wax crayon drawing and Carolyn Cornforth Baird '67, Sacramento, Calif., exhibited an intaglio self-portrait. A woodcut print was submitted by Betty McGrath Anthony '42, Orleans, Mass.

Judith Godwin '52 was one of 50 exhibitors in MBC's first All Alumnae Art Show. Judith's painting, "Red Flury," was selected for the College's permanent alumnae art exhibit in Deming Fine Arts Center.

Virginia Student Project to Fly With Space Shuttle

A science proposal by Richmond high school students ha been selected nationally as the "Get Away Special" experiment package to be sent with a flight of the space shuttle.

The Virginia project was sponsored by the Virginia section of th American Chemical Society which is chaired by Dr. James Patric professor of chemistry at Mary Baldwin College.

Patrick and possibly other members of the MBC science facul stand ready to assist with the project if needed.

The winning project was devised by members of the scienc club at Richmond's Douglas Southall Freeman High School. The experiment is on "Electrophoresis of Low Molecular Weight Su stances in Agarose at Micro-Gravity" which involves biochemic operations in a weightless environment.

The experiment must meet NASA regulations and must be se contained in a 2.5 cubic foot canister. It will be sent with one of th space shuttle flights in the next two years or so and is to be turn on in flight by one of the astronauts.

BACK TO SCHOOL

by Ann Clayton Brandt
Director of Communications

The most obvious new aspect about the MBC campus this fall is the new look of the north end of campus as the College expands its facilities.

The Deming Hall Fine Arts Center, dedicated October 8 in honor of alumna and trustee Bertie Murphy Deming, now houses music, art and theatre programs.

The Business Office moved its operation to Kable House during the summer as the center of the campus is now moving in that direction.

The Advisory Board of Visitors has raised $17,000 toward the $20,000 cost of painting Kable Hall the Mary Baldwin cream color of the Fine Arts Center and other buildings on campus.

In Hunt Hall, the new art gallery opened with an exhibit of alumnae art from throughout the country. (See story on p. 4).

Students registered on Labor Day as the 1983-84 school year got underway. The official enrollment tally is 812 students enrolled in degree programs including the regular program and the Adult Degree Program.

Entering freshmen represent 24 states, with Virginia, Texas and Maryland being the states with the highest enrollment. Fifty-two percent of the entering students are from Virginia and 62 percent are from public schools. There are 13 Bailey Scholars. Among the traditional, four-year students, there are 195 freshmen, 157 sophomores, 140 juniors and 140 seniors.

Orientation for new students began August 31 to help the 185 freshmen and 26 transfer students become acclimated to life at Mary Baldwin College. Besides taking tests and meeting with faculty advisors, the new students were also treated to a hike on the Blue Ridge Parkway and a visit to Monticello.

Mary Baldwin—an enterprising college

by Ann Clayton Brandt
Director of Communications

MBC was selected as the model college in a nationwide study of turnaround management of colleges by the National Center for Higher Education Management Systems.

The study cited numerous achievements at Mary Baldwin in recent years and credited the current president, Virginia L. Lester, with bringing about many positive changes since 1976.

Comparing the state of the College before President Lester arrived to where it is today, the report says that "well-prepared, experienced, talented management can turn a college that was losing money into one that is well-positioned for a long-term future."

One of the first examples of this was the acquisition of the property and buildings of the former Staunton Military Academy adjacent to the Mary Baldwin campus. This action served as a "dramatic statement of the College to stay in business" and showed the College's ability to generate revenue when necessary.

The College's endowment value quadrupled over a seven-year period. The College also has improved its financial situation since 1976 by doubling total revenues, repaying past operating deficits and accumulating surpluses.

The College has improved its support from alumnae, trustees and other friends. In 1981, Mary Baldwin was nationally recognized as the women's college with the greatest annual increase in alumnae giving.

The report also cites a unique constituency established for the College, that of executive officers of major corporations throughout the country. Through the visiting executive in the classroom program started in 1981, the College invites top corporate managers to give seminars to business majors. They also meet with other students to advise them about career opportunities in the business world. The highly successful program has "generated great good will among the executives, as well as direct support through donations of time, money and expertise," the study reflects.

In the academic area, programs added recently include business management, arts management, social work, communications and a computer literacy component to keep pace with expanding career options. The report also cites the Adult Degree Program started in 1976 for adults to earn their bachelor of arts degree. When it was initiated, the program was one of few offered by a college in a non-urban area. An evening program was begun in 1972 to offer non-credit study and enrichment opportunities for members of the local community.

The College maintains a small student-faculty ratio. Of the full-time faculty, 75 percent have earned the highest degrees in their fields. For the past four years, faculty salaries have increased by an average of 10 percent each year.

The report on Case Studies in College Strategy was conducted by Ellen Earle Chaffee for NCHEMS based in Boulder, Co., and was also sponsored by the National Institute of Education. The purpose of the study was "to learn of ways in which medium-sized independent colleges dealt with revenue constraints they faced in the mid-1970s." From an initial 40 colleges considered by the National Council for Higher Education Management Systems, 14 colleges were selected for further study, with Mary Baldwin being identified in the final report as the model college.

Colleges selected represented the Northeast, Central Atlantic, Midwest and Western part of the country. The research involved two-day visits to the campuses and interviews with faculty representatives, chief administrators and trustees.

Summer Programs at Mary Baldwin College

by Ann Clayton Brandt
Director of Communications

For the fourth consecutive year, Mary Baldwin College hosted 31 students from Doshisha Women's College in Kyoto, Japan. And for the first time this year, a group of Mary Baldwin students went to Doshisha to study and learn about Japanese culture.

The six students who went to Japan include Mary Frances (Fance) Anderson, Lexington, N.C.; Kelly Rae Garcia, Chantilly, Va.; Tami Lyn Hatch, Annandale, Va.; Mary Kathleen Shuford, Hickory, N.C.; Susan Krispin Cranwell, Blacksburg, Va., all Mary Baldwin students, and Allison Ann Kay, Tyler, Tex., a student of Randolph-Macon Woman's College participating in the program.

The American students participated in studies and activities including an intensive Japanese language class; lectures on history, art and business; tours of the area including a three-day excursion to Hiroshima and Kurashiki; and a visit to the ABC TV studio and National Electronics in Osaka.

Heading the program in Japan were Professor Makoto Ozaki of Doshisha who served as a visiting professor at Mary Baldwin last spring and Dr. Suzanne Gay, an MBC professor who was visiting professor at Doshisha during the summer.

Thirty-one Japanese students came to Mary Baldwin for a three-week program of study, sight-seeing and learning about life in America.

During the week, they attended English language classes each morning. In the afternoons, they would learn about American history, culture, foods and gardening.

The Japanese students enjoyed several field trips including a walking tour of Staunton, a trip to historic Williamsburg, and a visit to Monticello and the University of Virginia. They also had a three-day excursion to Washington, D.C.

MBC Professor James Lott and Doshisha Professor Toshihisa Koizumi directed the exchange program at Mary Baldwin.

The Japanese exchange program is part of the overall international studies program offered at Mary Baldwin which gives students opportunities to learn about other cultures and languages both at home and abroad.

The following is a recap of other summer programs:

June 12-18—National Intensive Journal Retreat (based on the work of Dr. Ira Progoff), led by Father Lewis Cox, Society of Jesus. 52 registrants from 8 states and Canada.

June 13—Twelve enrolled for graduate course work in the Lynchburg College Graduate Program at Mary Baldwin College.

June 12-July 16—Five sessions of Elderhostel, 149 participants from all over the U.S. Mary Baldwin's Elderhostel program was nominated by the state coordinator as one of its steering committee districts in various geographic areas to hold an experimental Intensive Studies Program. These programs explore one subject in more depth and make more academic demands on participants. "The Shape of Things to Come" taught by Robert Lafleur and Roderic Owen was taught at Mary Baldwin College. It explores future trends with such books as Megatrends and Future of the Earth.

July 3-Aug. 6—Three Computer Camps with enrollment of 127, ages 9-11, 12-14, 15-17.

July 17-Aug. 6—Special Summer Science Program ($S_3P$!) and Living Language and Literature Program ($L_3P$!) 14 rising high school juniors and seniors in intensive studies with college credit granted.

July 29-30—Audiology Seminar in cooperation with the Alexander Graham Bell Institute, for instructors and parents of deaf children. 75 in attendance.

Mary Baldwin College and the Presbyterian Church

by Dr. Frank Pancake
Director of Church-College Relations

Mary Baldwin College was founded through the efforts of Rufus W. Bailey, a Congregationalist minister born in Maine and educated at Dartmouth and Andover Theological Seminary. Bailey left New England in 1827 and, after serving pastorates in South Carolina for twelve years, came to Staunton, Va. in 1842.

He soon convinced local Presbyterians, ministers as well as lay members, that a seminary for the education of women should be established. The trustees of the Presbyterian Church of Staunton agreed to grant a lot adjacent to the church on which was built the main Administration Building still in use today. The condition attached to this grant was that three-fourths of the trustees of the new school be ministers or members of the local Presbyterian Church.

Based upon these early beginnings, Mary Baldwin has asserted that it is the oldest college for women related to the (former) Presbyterian Church U.S.

Over the years the executive leadership of the institution has been, for the most part, in the hands of Presbyterians including Mary Julia Baldwin, principal from 1863-1897, Dr. A. M. Fraser, pastor of First Presbyterian Church and president during the transition to college status in the 1920's, Dr. L. Wilson Jarman, the first full-time college president, and their successors. Only the two most recent heads, Dr. William W. Kelly and Dr. Virginia L. Lester, have been other than Presbyterian. Many years ago the requirement that three-quarters of the trustees be Presbyterian was abandoned.

Today Mary Baldwin's College's association with the Church is defined in its Covenant Agreement with the Synod of the Virginias.

Just a few months ago, the Presbyterian Church U.S. took the historic step of joining the United Presbyterian Church in the creation of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) which combines into one organization virtually all congregations nationwide. Over the next few years, the future structure of synods will be studied.

Thus, in the year 1983, Mary Baldwin's church relatedness has expanded from an essentially southern connection to one extending throughout the country.

All the ramifications of the new church union are by no means clear, but what is clear is that Mary Baldwin College must now be conscious of a vastly increased Presbyterian constituency.

Against this background, it is interesting that the College has been actively engaged for several years in reexamining its opportunities to better serve its Presbyterian family irrespective of how large that family might ultimately become.

On campus this has produced a reaffirmation of many on-going programs including the teaching of courses in religion such as the Old and New Testament, the continuation of the Religious Life Committee, visiting lecturers from Union Theological Seminary and elsewhere, a full-time chaplain and regular religious services.

The present chaplain is Cynthia Rosser Higgins, a native of Hampton, Va., who received her B.A. in religion at Meredith College and her Doctor of Ministry degree at Union Theological Seminary in 1981. She spent a year as associate pastor of Amity Presbyterian Church in Charlotte, N.C., prior to coming to Mary Baldwin in August, 1982. She and her husband, Burt, reside in Staunton.

This year the College has sought a more permanent and appropriate location for conducting religious services and has redesignated Miller Lounge in Wenger Hall as Miller Chapel. The room was originally given by Col. Francis Pickens Miller and his brother Rev. William McElwee Miller in memory of their mother, Flora McElwee Miller, Class of 1880. The Millers have long been leaders in the Presbyterian Church, and current members of the family have been delighted that the room will now be used as the college chapel.

Mary Baldwin has recognized that Presbyterian ministers provide a vital link with members of Presbyterian congregations as well as leadership in the Presbyterian family generally.

Two years ago the College offered to ministers and their families across four synods a summer recreation program known as Presbyhostel. In both 1982 and 1983, ministers came and stayed a week in college facilities, enjoying relaxation with their families in the beautiful Shenandoah Valley of Virginia.

The most recent and perhaps most important step taken by the College to improve its service to the clergy was the decision by the trustees to waive the tuition charges for daughters of Presbyterian ministers. In 1983-84, this will mean a cost reduction of about $5,200—more than half the total financial outlay. This resulted from a study which showed that, although the College has for many years given a reduction of $1,000 to these students, the spiraling costs of education have severely reduced the number of ministers' daughters attending MBC. Mary Baldwin seeks to reestablish its appeal to this particularly desirable category of student.

The College continues to explore ways of improving its relationship with its Presbyterian family. In so doing, it recommits itself to a bond that began in 1842 with Rufus Bailey and his Presbyterian friends in Staunton.

Meet Alumna Margaret Grabill Jones '33

Margaret Ott Grabill entered Mary Baldwin from Woodstock, Va., and returned after graduation to teach at Woodstock High School. In 1959 she finished her M.A. at Madison College, married the high school principal, David D. Jones, and they moved to Madison where he became principal of Madison County High School and she a guidance counselor. She returned for her fiftieth reunion in May, 1983.

Recently Margaret Jones told us she had put Mary Baldwin in her will. We asked if she would tell us why. We think her beautiful response should be shared with all alumnae.

The four years (1929-1933) that I spent at Mary Baldwin seem like a special time span set apart from the rest of my life; yet those four years influenced me greatly.

During my years at Mary Baldwin, I learned to love the College for many things: for its yellow, white-columned buildings, for its view of Betsy Bell and Mary Gray from my Hill Top room, for its dedicated Christian teachers, for the friendships made there, for its small school atmosphere, and most of all for the unique tradition that is Mary Baldwin.

It was at Mary Baldwin that I made lifelong friendships. Three of my classmates and I have had periodic reunions and regular correspondence for 50 years.

It was at Mary Baldwin that I met so many wonderful teachers. There was Miss Fannie Strauss, who volunteered to teach a class just for me so that I could get a needed credit for a collegiate professional certificate. There was Miss Clara Flansburgh, who corresponded with me in French through the years and visited in my home just before her death. There was Miss Mary E. Lakenan, who gave me part-time work coaching some of her Bible students, so I could add to my meager allowance. There were my English teachers who taught me an appreciation for good literature. There were the teachers of Contemporary Thought who brought me abreast of world issues. There were President Jarman and Dean Pfohl, whose personal interest in each of us helped dispel the inevitable homesickness.

It was to Mary Baldwin that I returned on May 21 for my fiftieth reunion. This was a beautiful experience, one in which the spirit of Mary Baldwin came alive again for the reunionists.

I feel that the least I can do in return for what Mary Baldwin has done for me is to remember the College in my will and thus in a small way to help perpetuate the good influence of this school through the last quarter of the twentieth century and on into another century.

MARY BALDWIN

1982-83 ANNUAL FUND REPORT

Mary Baldwin College depends on the continuing confidence, encouragement and support of its alumnae, parents and friends. We hold in high esteem each person whose name appears in the subsequent pages of this Annual Fund Report. We respect and applaud your generosity and more particularly, we are extremely grateful. Thank you.

PRESIDENT'S REMARKS

It is always a pleasure to look back over the past year and share with you what has been accomplished and suggest areas we have yet to address. This year the reflections presented a pattern of many new beginnings. Somehow, in the rush of each day's activities, we forget the miles we have traveled and the tasks we have completed.

We began the fall with an increased enrollment now at an all-time high of 1,229 including continuing education programs and the Adult Degree Program enrolling some 150 mature men and women. Our Adult Degree Program chosen by the Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education to serve as a model for five other Southern colleges made another leap forward pioneering a new office in Richmond in Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church.

A freshman class was admitted with improved SAT scores. They were greeted with heightened expectations of academic competence. They continued the year under our newly-stiffened standards. They realized all of our expectations this spring when our Dean reported a higher grade point average than previous classes, with fewer students on probation.

The fall also saw more physical changes initiated with the expansion and development of the additional 36 acres on upper campus. North Barracks had been demolished over the summer.

Our Alumnae Guest House became a reality. The Richmond Chapter of our Alumnae Association was the first to furnish one bedroom. We hope others will follow their example.

The Fine Arts Center fund drive successfully met the Kresge Challenge of $150,000 by December. We not only met that challenge but surpassed our total goal prior to our deadline. We all looked forward to the gala occasion centered on Founders' Day to honor and officially name the Bertie Murphy Deming Fine Arts Center, Deming Hall.

Keeping our "musical buildings" going, we received word from the Pew Memorial Trust that they would support, at the level of $99,000, the renovation of the library space vacated by the art department.

Almost half a million dollars later, we are at least that much safer with the new sprinkler system installed this fall. Two very serious dormitory fires this year at other institutions, one as close as William and Mary, assure us that a pound of prevention is worth all of that half million, even if sprinkler pipes are ugly by any other name.

New management in our greenhouse gave us green plants at strategic places around campus.

A new chaplain brought us increased programming for our religious life together, increased attendance at chapel services, and took our young women out into the community in new ways.

A new athletic league brought us an increase in the number of intercollegiate teams we mounted and new coaching staff to enable our young women to compete with the professional coaching required to support their best efforts.

Admissions experienced the stress of increasing competition for decreasing numbers of students yet responded by keeping applications and deposits running ahead of last year.

The Alumnae Office with a new Director of Alumnae Activities, Lee Foster, joined by Trustee Charlotte Lunsford, began the reorganization of our alumnae chapter system in target cities. Our alumnae association's highly successful redesign of its reunion activities will continue and include graduation weekend next year.

The new computer was installed. The academic demand was so great we must now increase our hardware to accommodate that demand.

Along with instituting merit increases for the first time for faculty persons, we are proud that, in a year of difficult financial conditions at many institutions in this nation, we were able to continue our progress and again address the remaining salary inequities that were a legacy from harder times for Mary Baldwin.

New honors were bestowed upon us. Cited for effective management in studies by the National Center for Higher Education Management Systems (NCHEMS), MBC was chosen as the model college in a study of turnaround management strategies of 40 colleges. Dr. David Riesman, professor emeritus of Harvard University, selected MBC one of six colleges for his forthcoming book on effective presidential leadership. Bryn Mawr is the other woman's college in the study.

My appointment to Governor Robb's blue ribbon Commission to Study the Future of Virginia singled us out as one of only two independent colleges represented on this prestigious and frequently reported and televised commission.

We continue to define and refine our processes in far more subtle ways than were ever possible in the earlier years of uncertainty and less stability. I believe it has been one of our most even years on campus. Staff, faculty, and students have worked diligently on their particular concerns that have enhanced our overall efforts as we anticipate tougher times ahead. The larger world has been generous with its recognition of our accomplishments, both monetarily through the generous continuing support of our alumnae, parents and friends to the annual fund and the magnificent support of our Fine Arts Campaign in a sluggish economy.

Always the problem solver, always centered on what must still be improved, I seldom take the time to count up our accomplishments. But when I do, I realize they are far too numerous to report. They continue to be so significant they seem miraculous. They reach so far down into our organization that there isn't an office, division or individual who hasn't experienced some change. However, I believe we have preserved the best of our traditions; we have heightened our professionalism, we have enlarged our horizons, and we have enhanced our image. I'm proud of this college. I know you share your pride with me.

THE COLLEAGUES OF MARY BALDWIN COLLEGE

The President's Associates
The Ivy Circle
The Columns

Authorized by the college's Board of Trustees, The Colleagues of Mary Baldwin College has been organized to recognize those individuals who make significant yearly financial contributions to the college's Annual Giving Fund.

Potential Colleagues are persons who have a concern for the needs of private liberal arts education and a firm conviction that women can best be educated in a women's college to prepare them for the pressures and challenges of expanding roles in society.

The goal of The Colleagues is to provide Mary Baldwin College with substantial financial resources on an annual basis that can be used flexibly according to the most urgent current needs. Persons interested in Colleagues membership are knowledgeable about the present financial problems of higher education and are especially sensitive to the particular concerns of private institutions. They have a realistic appreciation of Mary Baldwin's needs and their awareness will increase through closer association with Mary Baldwin College.

The responsibilities of membership are to serve as an informed source of information about higher education in general and Mary Baldwin College in particular and to support the college with an annual contribution as outlined below. Membership in The Colleagues is renewable each year by contributions at the $100, $500, or $1,000 level.

The President's Associates
$1,000 or more annually

The Ivy Circle
$500 to $999 annually

The Columns

Jarman Cup Award

The Jarman Cup, named for Dr. L. Wilson Jarman, president of MBC from 1929-1946, was awarded to the Class of 1930 for having the highest percentage participation in the College's 1981-82 Annual Fund. Mrs. Arthur Lieb of Alexandria, Va., granddaughter of Dr. Jarman and daughter of Laura Jarman Rivera '31, presented the award. Members of the Class of 1930 accepting the award were Evelyn Baker Arey of Minneapolis, Minn.; Virginia Dickerson Francisco of Staunton; Bessie Lewis of Richmond; and Mildred Moore Nixon of Mount Dora, Fla. The class had 54.3 per cent of the members contribute to the Annual Fund in 1981-82.

SENIOR GIFT SOCIETY

Tradition is recognized with pride at Mary Baldwin College. It is perpetuated annually through numerous events and programs, one of which is the Senior Gift Society. Each year, seniors are challenged by past graduating classes to make a significant contribution to Mary Baldwin College through a gift given by the class.

The Class of 1978 initiated the Senior Gift Society. Members of the Class of 1978 pledged to pay to Mary Baldwin College $12.00 each calendar year beginning the year prior to graduation and by June 30 of each subsequent year. These funds will be used to purchase a twenty-five year endowment life insurance policy which will mature at the time of the 25th reunion at Mary Baldwin for approximately $25,000. At that reunion members of the Class of 1978 will decide how that gift to the college's endowment will be used.

Members of the Class of 1979 pledge to pay to Mary Baldwin College $15.00 each calendar year beginning the year prior to graduation and by June 30 of each subsequent year. These funds will be invested for the Class of 1979 at the highest rate of return at minimal risk. It is estimated that this plan will result in a gift to the college at the 25th reunion of some $70,000. At that reunion members of the Class of 1979 will decide how that gift to the college's endowment will be used.

Members of the Class of 1980 responded to the challenge of the previous two classes by pledging to pay to Mary Baldwin College $15.00 prior to graduation, $20.00 in 1981, $25.00 in 1982, $30.00 in 1983, $35.00 in 1984 and continue $35.00 payments until their 25th reunion. These funds are being invested for the Class of 1980 at the highest rate of return at minimal risk. It is estimated that this plan will result in a gift to the college at their 25th reunion of some $329,000. At that reunion, members of the Class of 1980 will decide how that gift to the college's endowment will be used.

The Class of 1981 elected for their Senior Gift Society to commit their support to the annual fund, thus making a class gift prior to graduation to the 1980-1981 annual fund campaign.

The Class of 1982 established the Class of 1982 CAP AND GOWN FUND. The class pledged $5,000 payable over the next three years to purchase 100 new caps and gowns as the Class of 1982's gift to the college.

It is thanks to the Class of 1982 CAP AND GOWN FUND that sufficient contributions had accrued in that fund so that 35 new caps and gowns were purchased for the large graduating Class of 1983. In keeping with the agreement of the Class of 1982 labels were purchased for each cap and gown. Exact reproduction and size:

MARY BALDWIN COLLEGE
Staunton, Virginia
Gift From
The Class of 1982

The Class of 1983 recognizing the contribution Dean Mona Olds made to the College and especially during their four years as a class under her deanship, pledged to support a scholarship to be known as The Class of 1983 Mona Olds Scholarship, with a goal of 100% participation from the Class of 1983.

The Class of 1983 Mona Olds Scholarship will be a $500.00 scholarship awarded to a senior during the first semester of the senior year and announced at the January Honors Convocation.

To provide the funds for this scholarship, the Class of 1983 pledged to raise $6500.00 by the end of the annual fund year 1984-1985. This pledge to be paid by making the first payment of $5.00 before the end of this annual fund year, 1982-1983, a $15.00 payment during the 1983-1984 annual fund year and a $20.00 payment during the 1984-1985 annual fund. Total individual pledge over the next three years, $40.00

PARENTS

The parents of Mary Baldwin students maintain the loyalty to the college along with their daughters. They volunteer to represent classes through the Parents Council, recruit new students, serve on important college boards and give time and money to maintain the excellence of Mary Baldwin. The students, faculty, staff and administration are pleased to thank the parents who made a contribution to the 1982-1983 annual fund. You help make the difference.

REGRETFUL ERROR

During the 1981-1982 Annual Fund Campaign, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Holzbach (Sarah "Sally" Beals Holzbach '47) of Newport News, Virginia made a most generous gift to Mary Baldwin College to start a Student Loan Scholarship. Their kindness was unfortunately not recorded in the 1981-1982 Annual Fund Report. The College sincerely regrets this error and deeply apologizes to Mr. and Mrs. Holzbach.

PHONATHON RINGS IN SUCCESS FOR 1982-83 ANNUAL FUND

A significant component in the Annual Fund campaign each year is the national phonathon. This year more than 200 alumnae and student volunteers spent 22 evenings calling alumnae and parents to raise $100,000 in pledges.

A major emphasis in this year's calls was to encourage participation. 287 alumnae made pledges for the first time and 475 alumnae made pledges after missing several years.

The success of the phonathon is due to the volunteers. A most sincere thanks and applause, applause to:

Nancy McDowell Lincoln '71 Ordained Presbyterian Minister

On Sunday, May 22, Nancy McDowell Lincoln '71 was ordained as a Presbyterian Minister at Trinity Presbyterian Church in Charlotte, N.C. One of the proudest people there was her husband, the Rev. Don Lincoln, associate pastor of the church, who delivered the ordination sermon.

Although many Sunday mornings find the Lincolns in different churches, Nancy looks forward to opportunities to work with Don when they are asked to conduct joint classes and seminars for churches at congregational retreats.

Nancy decided to major in religion and philosophy at Mary Baldwin after taking a required religion course from Dr. James McAllister. She went on to earn a Master of Divinity at Princeton University. Recently Nancy was asked to speak at the North Carolina Women's Conference at Montreat. She says that there are many new frontiers for women in ministry, and she enjoys the opportunity to act as a role model.

Currently, Nancy is working as an intern at the Presbyterian Family Center of Charlotte. The pastoral counselors at the center combine ministerial and clinical counseling skills to help people from the community with a variety of family concerns.

Nancy hopes to gain admission to the American Association of Pastoral Counselors soon. Another major event occurred the first week in November when the Lincolns announced the birth of a daughter, Sarah Hope. Nancy says that she and her husband are looking forward to creating a balance between family and careers in their busy lives.

In addition to other activities, Nancy is serving as president of the Mary Baldwin Alumnae Chapter in Charlotte and is working with a steering committee to plan social and admissions functions for the coming year.

Dr. Marian Hollingsworth Cusac Receives Award

Dr. Marian Hollingsworth Cusac '54, associate professor of English at Francis Marion College, has been named Distinguished Professor of 1982-83.

The Distinguished Professor Award, sponsored by the Francis Marion College Foundation, carries with it a cash award of $1,500 for the recipient. Marian is the first woman to receive the award since it was initiated in 1977.

Marian began teaching at Francis Marion, a liberal arts college in Florence, S.C., in 1977 after serving as a lecturer there for four years. She had taught previously at Mercer University, Wright State University and Erskine College.

While at Mary Baldwin, Marian was inspired by English Professors Dr. Andrew Mahler and Miss Catherine Mims and greatly values her MBC experience. She went on to receive the Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

A resident of Marion, S.C., she is a Ruling Elder in the Presbyterian Church. Marian and her husband Bill, a Washington and Lee University graduate, have two children, Mike, 15, and Sally, 13.

Jo Ann Beard Brooke '58 Reaches New Heights

Getting away from it all for Jo Ann Beard Brooke '58 is flying over the beaches of north Florida. A licensed glider pilot and member of the North Florida Soaring Club, Jo is now turning some of her energy toward the pursuit of a doctorate in counseling psychology at the University of Florida at Gainesville.

She has been working as a mental health counselor in the Counseling and Testing Center at the University of North Florida since obtaining her master's degree there in psychology. In addition to her work in the Center, Jo is also engaged in private practice.

Jo majored in religion and philosophy while at Mary Baldwin. It was after she had raised a family that she decided to pursue an advanced degree. Her initial interest was occupational therapy, but after taking several psychology courses, she changed her focus.

She enjoys counseling students and has worked with bio-feedback and hypnosis. A new interest is the use of computers in psychological testing.

Even though Jo maintains a busy schedule as a counselor and student, she still finds time for flying. She became interested in the sport eleven years ago when she was in Roanoke, Va. She heard of the Soaring Club there and decided to try it because she enjoyed sailing and says that "sailing and flying a plane are closely related." Jo resides in a house on the beach in Atlantic Beach, Fla. and has two daughters, Robin, 21, and Anne, 18.

Lisa Sloan '74

From her education at MBC, to national television in New York, and now to a role in a major motion picture, Lisa Sloan '74 has come a long way from her roots in Lexington, Ky.

After leaving the popular soap opera, "The Edge of Night," Lisa moved to California in August to continue her acting career. Now filming in Kingsport, Tenn. with Mel Gibson and Sissy Spacek, Lisa is very excited about her future. The film, "The River," is directed by Mark Ridell, who directed "On Golden Pond," and will be released in December, 1984.

Lisa starred for two years in "The Edge of Night" as a leading character, Nicole Cavanaugh. Lisa enjoyed playing Nicole but felt that working on soaps is "not necessarily the best thing for an actress." Lisa left the show last June.

Lisa believes that Mary Baldwin College was a major factor in her success. After auditioning for her first play at MBC, Lisa discovered that acting was her "secret desire" and decided to change her major from French and experimental psychology to drama. With the help of drama professors Fletcher Collins and Virginia Francisco, Lisa developed her talents and performed in productions at Theatre Wagon, Oak Grove Theatre in Verona, Heritage Theatre in Charlottesville, and the Shenandoah Valley Playwright's Retreat.

When not performing on stage, Lisa participated in a number of other activities. During her four years at MBC, Lisa was director of Sophomore Show, head of student activities, involved in the senate, a member of the President's Review Board Drug Committee, and faculty assistant to the drama department. Even though she was busy in all these activities, Lisa still managed to make honors and dean's list.

After graduating from MBC with a major in drama, Lisa went on to Catholic University in Washington, D.C. to receive a masters in fine arts. Lisa then spent a year at the Arena Stage, a regional theatre in Washington, and worked that summer at the Boston Repertory Theatre in Williamstown, Mass. Her big break finally came on Broadway in the show "Gemini." She later worked as an understudy to Gilda Radnor in "Lunch Hour." After a trip to Italy to work on a film, Lisa began her role on "The Edge of Night" in June 1981.

With all the excitement of Lisa's career, she still holds a special place in her heart for Mary Baldwin College. Coming back for visits is a top priority since MBC was the place where she learned that she too could become a vital part of society.

Nancy Burkhalter Directs Alumnae Admissions Program

During the summer, Nancy Burkhalter joined the development staff as assistant director of alumnae activities. Her primary responsibility is to direct the Alumnae Admissions Program. Nancy received excellent preparation for her new position by working as an admissions counselor at Mary Baldwin last year.

Nancy came to Mary Baldwin from New Jersey where she worked at Rutgers University as a financial aid officer and then assistant director of admissions recruitment. She earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from Rollins College and a Master of Education from Virginia Commonwealth University.

Washington Scarf Project Boosted by Richmond

The Washington Alumnae Chapter can attest to the old adage that "it takes money to make money." When the officers of the chapter decided to undertake a major fund raising project, they ran into the problem of needing seed money to get started. Because they were newly reorganized and had no assets of their own, they were not able to work out a traditional bank loan. As often happens between good friends and families when financial assistance is needed, the Washington Chapter looked to their sister chapter in Richmond, Va.

The Richmond Chapter is an older and well-established chapter that has developed a treasury and a sizeable savings account over the years. It seemed only logical to appeal to the Richmond alumnae for help in getting the Washington scarf project "off the ground." Loaning money was a new venture for the Richmond Chapter, and after considerable deliberation, an agreement was made for the Richmond Chapter to lend Washington the necessary funds for the down payment to start the scarf project. With help from the Richmond Chapter, the Washington Chapter has been able to get the scarf project off the ground.

In March, the Washington Chapter officers contacted Frankie Welch of America to design a Mary Baldwin scarf. The first sale of the scarves took place during Homecoming Weekend in May to those alumnae who were on campus. Since that time, the Washington Chapter has been quite successful in marketing the specially designed scarves. In June, the chapter held a "Grand Showing Party" at the shop of Frankie Welch in Alexandria, Va. At that time, Washington alumnae enjoyed an afternoon reception and a chance to purchase a Mary Baldwin scarf. Frankie Welch assisted the chapter officers in hosting the party.

Officers of the Richmond Chapter were entertained at a luncheon prior to the "Grand Showing Party" as an expression of the Washington Chapter's appreciation for their help and support in making the scarf project possible.

Due to successful sales in the last few months, the Washington Chapter has repaid the loan in full to the Richmond Chapter. One of the benefits of a strong chapter network is chapters helping chapters, as well as alumnae helping alumnae.

Anyone interested in purchasing a Mary Baldwin scarf, should contact Brenda Hagg, 1918 New Hampshire Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20009. The scarves retail for $18.00 and checks should be made payable to the MBC Washington Chapter. Scarves are also available from the Alumnae Activities Office.

Denver

A brunch for Colorado alumnae was held in Denver at the home of Susan Burdon Coleman '76 in April. Sally Beard '82 is the current chairman of the Denver Chapter. Chapter members have been contacting local high schools, offering to talk to high school students and guidance counselors about the opportunities available at Mary Baldwin.

Eastern Shore of Virginia

Current and prospective students from Virginia's Eastern Shore were entertained at a breakfast in August at the home of Kate Scott Jacob '50. Sixteen students attended the breakfast. Cecile Mears Turner '46 and Malvina Savage, a member of the Advisory Board of Visitors, helped with hostessing the party.

New Orleans

A steering committee headed by Meg Kostmayer Charbonnet '78 is planning activities for New Orleans alumnae for the coming year. A mail survey of all alumnae was conducted over the summer.

New York

New York alumnae participated in the annual Virginia Council of Colleges Manhattan Harbor Cruise in June. The New York Chapter also has been conducting a telephone survey of New York alumnae for the purpose of publishing a directory. Newly-elected chairmen of the chapter for the '83-'84 year are Cathy Jolley '80 and Mary Stewart Wells '78.

Several New York alumnae provided housing for Jana Greenwood '84 during a May externship on Wall Street. The alumnae hostesses were Angie Painter '68, Mary Lea Snyder '75, Malou Thorn Rawls '69, and Betsy Booth '52.

The New York Chapter has donated lamps for the Alumnae House. The lamps will be used in one of the bedrooms.

Peninsula

An organizational meeting of the Peninsula Chapter was held in May at the home of Emily Troxell Pepper '62. Letia McDaniel Drewry '78 was elected president of the chapter for the '83-'84 year.

Peninsula alumnae enjoyed a reception with President Virginia Lester in May at the home of Marty Howard Patten '68. President Lester gave a State of the College address.

Richmond

The Richmond Chapter has donated bedroom furniture for the Alumnae House. The room, which is the first bedroom to be furnished, is appropriately being called "The Richmond Room." The gift was formally announced during the dedication ceremony of Alumnae House on Homecoming Weekend in May.

Richmond alumnae enjoyed a James River Cruise in May. A light barbeque dinner was served on board.

In June, the Richmond Chapter hosted a reception at the Fine Arts of America Gallery in honor of the Horace Day Exhibit which was shown during the month of June. Dr. Ulysse Desportes, art professor at MBC, was guest lecturer and spoke on the former MBC professor's works. Current and prospective students were also invited to the gallery.

Members of the Class of 1987 from the Richmond area were entertained at the annual "New Student Dessert" on August 16 at the home of Bev Estes Bates '64. The party was organized by Rebecca Jones Young '74.

This year, the Richmond Chapter Scholarship has been awarded to Felicia Andrews '87, sister of Faye Andrews Trevillian '78 of Williamsburg, Va. The $500 scholarship is awarded annually to a freshman from the Richmond area.

Sherry Bassett Brooks '77 is chairman of the Richmond Chapter for the '83-'84 year.

Roanoke

A wine and cheese party and organizational meeting of the Roanoke Chapter was held at the home of Helen McHenry Vogel '64 in April.

A cocktail party at the home of Louise Fowlkes Kegley '54 was held on June 3 for Roanoke alumnae. President Virginia Lester and Lee Johnston Foster '75, director of alumnae activities, attended. Kelly Huffman '80, Lee Coleman Gutshall '76, and Sarah Belle Eason Parrott '73 served as chairmen for the party. Sarah Belle Eason Parrott '73 is chairman of the Roanoke Chapter for '83-'84.

Southside Virginia

Southside alumnae enjoyed their chapter's annual coffee in May at the home of Patty Tipton Pugh '55. Charlotte Jackson Lunsford '51, project director of alumnae development, was the guest speaker.

Laura Price Dixon '78 was elected the new president of the Southside Chapter.

Staunton

Staunton and Augusta County alumnae gathered in June at the Alumnae House for a coffee and tour of the facility. Approximately 60 alumnae attended the party which was planned and organized by Genevieve Benckenstein Elder '41, Diana Rede Cabell '56, Kit Kivlighan Carter '44, and Anne Sims Smith '45.

Old Dominion Day Parties

Mary Baldwin alumnae around the country have enjoyed "Old Dominion Day Parties" throughout the spring and summer. These parties have been sponsored jointly by alumnae/i groups from Virginia colleges in Boston, Mass.; Cleveland, Ohio; Detroit, Mich.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; San Diego, Calif.; and Philadelphia, Penn.
